NAMIBIA SAFARI

5 DAYS NAMIB DESERT

DAY 1 From the international airport outside Windhoek, we travel directly to the boarder of the Namib Naukluft Park. This 50 000 square kilometre area is one of the largest conservancies in Namibia. The Naukluft Mountain looms starkly over the gravel plains lined with rivulets. Although the area seems hospitable, the fragile habitat is home to divergent species that have learnt to adapt to the extremely arid conditions, such as oryx, hyenas, scorpions and ostriches.

DAY 2 We leave the lodge early to enjoy the orange-tinted dunes of Sossusvlei at sunrise. At more than 200m they are the highest in the world. After a sojourn at the tiny bakery in Solitaire, the sculptured Naukluft Mountains resome excitement with quad biking in the desert. We take you on a boat trip on the Atlantik Ocean and invite you to take part in a guided cultural village tour to explore the small harbour town of former German South West Africa.

DAY 5 After two wonderful days in Swakopmund, it's time to travel northwards along the coastline. The Cape Cross Seal Colony is our first stop before turning east. The vegetation becomes denser and soon the arid semi-desert of western Damaraland makes way for the Namibian bush savannah. During the trip you enjoy the beauty of central Namibia. After passing Omaruru, Kalkfeld and Otjiwarongo, you will arrive at Kambaku in the late afternoon.

main our companion. We cross the photographic Kuiseb River bed and soon reach our lodge at the edge of the park. The magic of the desert surrounds us, with the stars seemingly close enough to touch and only the wind stemming the silence.

DAY 3-4 The Atlantic awaits us after breakfast. Our journey is characterized by outspread desert all the way to Swakopmund. We arrive by noon in the former harbour town of the German Schutzgebiet – a modern town with a German atmosphere and numerous cafés, souvenir shops and a small museum.

Swakopmund offers manifold adventures besides your planned programme. Next to tours on your own you may look forward to a half-day desert excursion to meet the „Little Five“ and
